

13th STUDENT CONFERENCE ON CONSERVATION SCIENCE

University of Cambridge

20 – 22 March 2012

Building links among young conservation scientists and practitioners

SCCS is aimed at young researchers working in university departments, conservation organisations, or resource management agencies. Approximately 200 postgraduate students (and similar-stage researchers) attend the conference each year, from a broad range of disciplines in conservation, including ecology, geography, sociology and economics.

Invited Speakers

---

Professor Arun Agrawal
University of Michigan, USA

Rupert Howes
Marine Stewardship Council

Professor David Wilcove
Princeton University, USA

Professor Kathy Willis
University of Oxford, UK

Your Role in the Conference

---

The three-day event consists of around 30 short talks and 100 posters presented by young researchers. Presentations on economic and social as well as biological aspects of conservation are welcome. Prizes are awarded for outstanding talks and posters.

Workshops help build practical skills. Social events provide lots of opportunities to network with others in your own and related disciplines.

Conference Costs

---

The conference fee is £60 (this includes registration, lunches, tea and coffee, and three evening events). Limited accommodation and breakfast is available in a nearby college at a subsidised rate of £25 per person per night.

Bursaries

---

SCCS will provide financial support for students from developing countries and eastern Europe. Bursaries can be used to cover travel and conference expenses.

Internships

---

Internships are available for students from developing countries and eastern Europe to attend SCCS and then spend a month with a UK-based conservation NGO or a university department carrying out a project of mutual interest.

Applications to be submitted by 23 October 2011.
